

I wanna fly
Far away from here
Where in my heaven, there are no worries
No concern as to what becomes of me
Looking up to gaze the stars that float above me
I wonder why I feel like floating away

Looking down onto my reflection
I see myself as the one who doesn't fit in
I feel the loneliness inside,
No one there to talk about your pain inside
Just me as the one who's left behind

I close my eyes and I vision a scene
Where I don't feel the need to be sad
Now I can say that someone is there
Who's always there when I would need them most
I'm telling myself that I must be strong
No matter what's thrown at me, I'll never back down

I take a look at the one beside me
And hear them say that they really love me
I think about all of the times we've shared
Reconsidered the fact that I'm alone
And say that someone is there that I can love

I close my eyes and I vision a scene
Where I don't feel the need to be sad
Now I can say that someone is there
Who's always there when I would need them most
I'm telling myself that I must be strong
No matter what's thrown at me, I'll never back down

I close my eyes and I vision a scene
Where I don't feel the need to be sad
Now I can say that someone is there

Who's always there when I would need them most
I'm telling myself that I must be strong
No matter what's thrown at me, I'll never back down